

HARD HITTING ALLIED TROOPS WIPE OUT AXIS SALIENT; RUSSIANS FACE FURIOUS RESISTANCE IN DONETS AREA

General Alexander Launches Fierce Counter-Offensive

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British commander of Allied ground forces, today swung his American, French and British troops into a fierce counter-offensive in central Tunisia where they were shaking loose the last grip of Marshal Erwin Rommel's crippled columns on strategic Kasserine Pass and menacing two other strong points at Sbeitla and Ousseltia to the northeast.

Combining a three-pronged attack in the north with armored car advances by the British Eighth Army into the outpost area of the Mareth Line in the south, Alexander had the enemy in trouble on two fronts.

As British and American troops swarmed into the Kasserine Pass near the Algerian border for mopping up operations, the strong American and Royal Air Forces spread their assault deep into the enemy's rear, blasting airdromes, roads, railways, and strafing troops, vehicles and gunposts.

As Rommel retreated he again was leaving Italian infantry behind, a rear guard, as he did in Egypt, and hundreds of crack Italian infantry and mountain troops were taken prisoner.

Unable to bring up sufficient reinforcements because of a bristling barrage of bombs and machine-gun fire from the air, the Axis chieftain appeared unable to hold the vital Kasserine pass, 130 miles southwest of Tunis, which he had used to strike northward at the Allied communication system.

At last reports there was fighting in the pass itself. No Axis troops are left on the west side of the pass, a competent source said, and he added that overnight an Axis salient approximately eight miles long had been wiped out.

German gunners also were hard put to stave off the British advance charge penetrating another gap east of Sbeitla, which is 50 miles northeast of Kasserine, and threatening Sbeitla, 18 miles north-east of Kasserine.

French troops, sallying from the mountains on the west side of the Ousseltia valley, about 70 miles northeast of Kasserine, cleaned up one Axis pocket after another that had been left by an Axis thrust a few days ago, perhaps presaging another determined Allied drive in that sector.

Today's Allied headquarters communique said a number of Italian, left as rearguards to protect the German withdrawal, were taken prisoners.

Meanwhile, the communique for the first time included mention of ground activity by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army in the southern sector, and said his armored cars were engaged in active patrol east of the Mareth Line.

RAID NAZI NAVAL BASE AT WILHELMSHAVEN

London, Feb. 25.—(P)—RAF bombers attacked the Nazi naval base at Wilhelmshaven and objectives in western Germany last night without the loss of a plane, it was announced today.

Allied fliers last hit Wilhelmshaven Friday night. The latest attack was the sixteenth on Germany this month.

The blow at Wilhelmshaven appeared to assure the RAF a new record for the number of tons of bombs dropped on Axis targets in a single month.

'No Easy Or Quick Victory' Stimson Says

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—The sharp fighting in central Tunisia has resulted in a clean-cut repulse of Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored Nazi forces, Secretary of War Stimson reported today, but "we will not have an easy nor a quick victory."

Losses by the American forces, he told his press conference, have been less heavy than was first believed to be the case. Material losses, including tanks, scout cars and field guns have been heavy, he added, but much of this equipment already has been replaced.

The early estimates of losses in men have been reduced somewhat, Stimson said, as a number of units made their way back to American positions through Axis lines.

The constant air support given the ground forces was vital to the successful counter attack against the Axis, the secretary commented, but the "most significant reaction" was that of the ground troops.

Harrisburg, Feb. 25.—(P)—Local governmental agencies would be asked to earmark a certain percentage of any surplus funds to help finance post-war work under a bill prepared today for introduction in the Pennsylvania legislature.

The measure, in the hands of the attorney general for approval, has been streamlined to eliminate features objected to by Governor Martin in the original post-war planning bill.

A Republican legislative leader, who asked that his name be withheld, said the new bill would set up an appropriation of "about (Turn to Page Eleven)

Five Probes In Deferments In Government

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—Uncle Sam's estimated 3,000,000 civilian employees blinked today in the spotlight of investigations projected by five house committees, one of which branched out to take in all draft deferments granted by local boards.

The Dies committee, the appropriations, civil service, naval affairs, and the military affairs committees mapped plans to find out what government workers are doing, with a special view to determining the need for their services, their loyalty to the government and the reasons an estimated 1,000,000 of them aren't in army or navy uniforms.

In an address broadcast last night, Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) of the committee investigating un-American activities pledged his (Turn to Page Eleven)

ODT Director Pessimistic

New York, Feb. 25.—(P)—Joseph E. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, predicted today that before the end of the year the transportation rubber situation would become "worse, rather than better."

Speaking before a wartime conference on employee transportation, Eastman said: "I can see no reason at all for relaxing in any way the programs of economy and conservation which have been inaugurated but, on the contrary, every reason for promoting and pressing these programs with intensified vigor."

Eastman's address, heard by a large group of traffic men, including representatives of industry and state transportation bodies, referred to transportation as one of the greatest and most difficult of wartime problems.

"Steadily," said Eastman, "the job is growing bigger and steadily the facilities are growing less."

FINNS APPEAR ABOUT READY TO ASK PEACE

Washington Says Air Is Full of Unofficial and Unverified Reports

IS DENIED IN HELSINKI

BY WADE WERNER

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—For the second time in this global war little Finland seems close to the end of armed conflict with Russia. The air is full of unofficial and unverified reports and conjectures, including rumors that peace terms actually have been transmitted by the Finns through Stockholm.

It was just three years ago that similar reports circulated in various capitals, though at that time there was furious fighting on the Russo-Finnish front, in contrast to the relative quiet there today.

Now the talk is once again of Finnish-Russian peace, or more specifically of Finland's withdrawal from Germany's war against Russia.

The Finns contend they already have withdrawn from any active military operations, having recovered the territory they lost in 1940, and that their only object now is to hold their lines against Russian attack.

Information reaching Washington through diplomatic channels indicates the Finns seem to draw up specific proposals, if indeed they have not already done so.

The presence of some 100,000 German troops on Finnish soil has often been cited as the chief barrier to any Russo-Finnish settlement, also the fact that Finland depends on Germany for food shipments.

However, the recent frantic "this is the cruel truth" speech of Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels has been interpreted that Germany would be glad to get an armistice in the east; if not on the whole front, then at least on the 1000-mile Finnish section (Turn to Page Eleven)

Packers Are Worried Over Black Market

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—(P)—Gangsters, "smart money boys" and other persons without regard for the nation's health have invaded black markets in meat in an effort "to turn an easy dollar," George A. Casey, president of the National Independent Meat Packers Association, declared today.

Elaborating on his complaints to a senate agricultural committee that friction between government agencies is responsible for black market sales of "diseased meat," Casey told newsmen that packers are "very much disturbed over the possibilities of sickness and disease that might follow the sales."

Casey estimated that since last November about 2,000,000 pounds of black market meat found their way into retail markets in the Philadelphia metropolitan area where, he said, the illegal traffic is widespread and on the increase.

Chairman Smith (D-SC) announced in Washington yesterday that his senate agriculture subcommittee would hold a public meeting Tuesday to hear Casey's charges, made in a statement, that a production-discouraging price scheme had resulted from a "conflict of interests" between Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and the office of price administration.

Day's Digest of Late Food Rationing News

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—Today's digest of late food news: Rice is not rationed; there are price ceilings on lettuce and spinach, and more fresh vegetables may be brought under regulations soon.

That was the gist of Office of Price Administration announcements late yesterday as the ruling on lettuce and spinach brought 96 per cent of the nation's food under price control.

The reminder that rice is not on the ration list came after OPA heard rumors from various parts of the country that grocers were refusing to sell rice on the belief that its sale had been suspended along with other processed foods.

Youngsville Man Victim of Heart Attack

Michael A. Brady, Former County Commissioner, Dies Suddenly

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

Michael A. Brady, long prominent in Youngsville business circles and county affairs, was stricken with a heart attack shortly after three o'clock Wednesday afternoon and died about ten minutes later. A physician who was called informed the coroner Mr. Brady had been suffering from a heart ailment.

Although he had not been in the best of health for some time Mr. Brady had continued quite active until the time of his death.

Mr. Brady, one of the county's best known citizens, was born in Busti, N. Y., on October 30, 1870, and on November 5, 1891, was united in marriage with Eva C. Schnell, of Youngsville. In 1894, one son was born to this union, Claire A. Brady, who died in 1918 at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill.

In 1905 Mr. Brady operated a meat market in Youngsville and from 1906 to 1909 he was employed by the Forest Furniture Company at that place.

In 1907 he was appointed superintendent of the House Hospital, serving in that capacity for the 19-year period ending in 1928.

Politically, he was a Republican and was elected county commissioner by that party in 1928 and reelected in 1932, serving a total of eight years.

He had long been a member of Youngsville Lodge, No. 500, I. O. O. F.

Surviving besides his wife, Eva C. Brady, he leaves a brother, William Brady, also of Youngsville, and a niece, Mrs. Rose Aberg.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the home of his brother-in-law, A. M. Schnell, 120 East Main street, Youngsville. Friends may call at that address at any time.

Wooden Guns and Dummies To Stay, Army Chief Says

BY WILLIAM FRYE

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—The wooden gun is here to stay. Furthermore, said the commanding general of the military district of Washington today, there's no reason why one should not stay, among other places on the roof of the house office building.

Brig. Gen. John T. Lewis, tall and crisp and pleasant, seemed torn between amusement and annoyance at the furor over the speech by Rep. Cooley (D-NC), who inspected an anti-aircraft gun position on Capitol Hill, and then reported to his colleagues: "Dummy soldiers, wearing ser-

SPECTACULAR LAND FIGHTING AT KHARKOV

German Airforce Reported Throwing Its Planes Into Support of Infantry

LARGE TOWNS TAKEN

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Soviet troops are sweeping ahead along the entire front in the face of increasing enemy counter-attacks and despite deep snows in Orel and Kursk provinces and thick, sticky mud in the Ukraine and the northern Caucasus, field dispatches said today.

The weather had lifted sufficiently, however, to permit the aviation of both sides to increase activity in the southern districts. It was clear enough to allow accurate bombing and numerous aerial dogfights developed.

The German airforce was throwing its planes into the support of tank and infantry counter-attacks west of Rostov, actions which the Russians said they were repelling with heavy loss to the enemy.

(The Berlin radio declared today that available reports indicated 58 Russian planes were shot down in air duels Wednesday and that anti-aircraft guns brought down three more. Four German planes failed to return from their missions, the broadcast reported.)

The most spectacular land fighting was reported in the area west of Kharkov where the offensive is aimed in a wide sweep, bearing on the entire industrial Dnieper river valley, with Poltava and Konotop as the gateways and Kiev, Kremenchug, Dniepropetrovsk and Zaporozhe as the ultimate goals.

In the last 24 hours two large towns were taken in that sector, the Russians announced, as the Red army smashed through enemy screening forces. The towns were not identified.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, reported in a dispatch from the Ukraine that the Germans had mustered fresh reserves to fill the gaps in their regiments and to man tanks in counter-assaults, but that the Red army artillery smashed the German armor with (Turn to Page Eleven)

Bill Proposed Will Exempt All Fathers

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—Bill to exempt all fathers married prior to Pearl Harbor from induction into the armed forces was introduced today by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.).

The blanket exemption would cover all fathers of children under 18 who are living with their families.

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—A bill to exempt all fathers from military service was whipped into shape today as its sponsor called for the transfer of able-bodied young men "from desks to fields of action" and their replacement by men of from 38 to 45.

Proposing that selective service officials turn to bachelors and childless husbands up to 45 rather than "break up homes where there are young children," Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) asserted it could be done by weeding out husky youths "doing office jobs for the army."

Wheeler's measure would pro fathers married prior to Pearl vide a blanket exemption for all Harbor and living with their families.

Harrisburg, Dec. 25.—(P)—"A large pool" of Pennsylvania men who have wives but no children will defer temporarily the induction into military service of married men with children, State Selective Service headquarters said today.

Col. Benjamin F. Evans, acting director, said the length of the postponement can not be determined until the size of future calls for new men from the state is known. (Turn to Page Eleven)

Congressman Gavin Scores 'Bureaucrats'

Washington, Feb. 25.—(P)—Action of the house in refusing additional funds to War Power Commissioner Paul V. McNutt and Labor Secretary Frances Perkins was hailed today by Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) as an indication that the administration's "bureaucrats and professional planners are definitely on the way out."

The former Oil City industrial planner declared in a statement that "Mr. John Q. Taxpayer has served notice on Mr. Average Congressman demanding action, and, believe me, the congress has given the people action for the first time in many months."

Congress' earlier refusal of funds to the national resources planning board, headed by Fredrick A. Delano, the president's uncle, and to the Home Owners Loan Corporation was described by Gavin as "a blow to the professional planners" who, he said, have been "giving it" to business for the past ten years and now face the test of whether they can "take it."

over the phony guns—sort of like a scarecrow put on a melon patch!"

Judging from the general's comments, the "scarecrow" angle comes closer to the military facts of life than Cooley's plaint that "when I place out decoy soldiers and decoy guns, I would expect to attract enemy planes."

The idea seems to be that in bombing attacks, the plane doesn't aim at anti-aircraft guns, it aims to stay away from them. And dummy gun positions are allowed to be seen in such spots that a plane, avoiding them, will run into a hidden hornets' nest.

Erie Hunter Pleads Guilty To Deer Theft

Echoes of the last deer hunting season were heard today in the office of Justice of the Peace Richard Evans when C. O. Montgomery, of Erie acknowledged the larceny of the carcass of a deer from Martin Stanich, of McKean, Erie county. The complaining witness stated that he had received satisfaction and under an Act of the Legislature the Justice discharged Montgomery on payment of the costs.

According to the evidence in the case the two men were hunting in Cherry Grove township and Stanich shot a deer, Montgomery who was nearby also claimed the animal. However Stanich dragged the deer out to the highway and was about to load it on his car when Montgomery took it away from him and drove off with the trophy.

Stanich appeared before Justice Evans and made information charging the larceny of the carcass. Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder went to Erie on the case and secured the bullet from the animal. Taking the guns of the two hunters and the bullet Deputy Linder reported to District Attorney Joseph Goldstein and the guns and bullet were taken to Harrisburg for examination by a ballistic expert. Examination showed Stanich had shot the deer.

Confronted with the evidence Montgomery made a settlement with Stanich and was discharged after the action this morning in the court of Justice Evans.

Shrine Club Ladies' Night Happy Event

Nearly 80 persons gathered at the Philomel Club house Wednesday evening to enjoy the buffet supper and pleasing program provided by the Warren County Shrine Club for its annual Ladies' Night entertainment.

After extending a welcome to the ladies, George Geracinos, County Shrine Club president, introduced Horace Cray, who is not only head of the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee, but a member of the board of trustees of the Zenn Zenn Hospital for crippled children in Erie.

His talk on the work of the local committee and the hospital, showing the splendid cooperation between the two, proved informative and interesting. He brought out that hospital figures show 13 per cent of the hospital's patients to be from Warren county and that, to date, 20 former patients of the Warren county committee are serving in Uncle Sam's armed forces.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to an entertaining program provided by a quartet from the Zenn Zenn Temple Chapter of Erie: O. L. Greider, Harold Crandall, R. J. Switzer and W. O. Strong, accompanied by W. A. Richards.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. ### Tribute To Aged Teachers Paid By S. S.

A deserved tribute was paid recently in the First Presbyterian Sunday school to recognize the long and constructive service given by Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kitchen, who have just observed their 55th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Harold S. Hampson, Adam Yerg and Harold Banghart spoke in turn to tribute to both teachers in the Sunday school and leaders in activities and governance of the church since the days when the congregation first met in the Jefferson street building, later in the first church building and in the present edifice.

Mrs. Hampson spoke of their service to Christian education. Mr. Yerg stressed their Christian leadership and constant striving for the highest standards and goals. Mr. Banghart's comments were directed toward the great capacity for friendship, great good humor and warmly human qualities that have endeared them to three generations of fellow members.

Favorite hymns of the couple were sung on this joyful occasion of recognition of two of the church's most faithful leaders.

These Vegetables Likely To be Scarce in Markets

Vegetables which will be scarce in markets next summer will likely include those which the department of agriculture has designated as "non-essential." These are: artichokes, popcorn, watermelon, bleached celery, eggplant, iceberg lettuce, kohlrabi, cucumbers, horseradish, okra, radishes, garlic, rhubarb, leeks, pimientos, squash and pumpkins.

The amateur can grow good celery quite easily by starting or purchasing plants in the spring and cultivating them all season. In the fall, eat them green, and get the benefit of all the Vitamin A they contain, which is lost when the stalks are bleached. Eggplant also can be grown with ease from plants set out in the garden after danger of frost is over.

Squash, pumpkins and melons take more room than other crops. But Italian marrows, a form of squash, grow quickly from seed forming huge bushes which bear fruits shaped like huge cucumbers, which are delicious at any stage from the time they are a few days old, until they are mature giants, weighing ten pounds or more.

And winter squash, such as the acorn-shaped Table Queen, can be grown where there is room. The flesh is sweet, and rich in vitamins.

Vine squash and melons are grown the same way: Sow six seeds in a "hill," spacing the hills four to six feet apart each way; and thin out to three plants after they have begun to grow well. Keep them watered as they need it, and protect from aphids. In warm soil, with full sun, they will usually do well. In northern states be sure to use early varieties of melon.

Radishes should be sown mixed with seeds of carrots, parsnips, and parsley, which grow slowly. The carrots can be harvested before they crowd the other crops. Kohlrabi tastes like turnip, and makes a bulb above the ground; it should be eaten before it turns woody, and needs protection from cabbage worms.

Pumpkins can be grown where there is room, as easily as squash, using the same methods. For the small garden, the Bush Pumpkin will bear small one-piece fruits, very sweet. Sugar Pie variety grows on vines, treated like the melons. Pimientos are like other peppers, easily grown from plants set out when safe from frost, but take almost three months to mature.

Leeks would never be considered as nonessential in Britain, where they are more popular than their cousins, the onions. They are grown as easily from seed sown with the first crops. Thin them out, or transplant when they are as large as a lead pencil. The British make a hole with a dibber, and drop the little leek plant in the hole, allowing the rain to wash the soil in gradually. By fall they should be an inch in diameter, just a thick stalk, no bulb. They are always cooked, and have a distinctive onion-like flavor.

Iceberg lettuce is difficult to grow elsewhere into the sort of head they produce in California and Arizona. Since its white bleached heads are devoid of vitamins, the Victory gardener should grow instead leaf lettuce or Romaine.

Horseradish is easily grown from sets, and since there is likely to be a shortage of this excellent relish, it might be a good idea to grow a few sets, then grind up your own next fall.

WAACS May See Service In Air Branch

Members of the Women's Auxiliary Corps are now taking over a great number of jobs of all kinds with the army air force, Captain Ernest St. Jacques, of the Erie U. S. Army recruiting station, revealed today. Parachute packers, aircraft armorers, weather observers—these are just a few of the professions being invaded by the WAACS.

The schools for work in the air forces are the latest of the specialist schools opened for the members of the Corps. Already existing schools are those for motor transport, involving operation and maintenance of motor vehicles from jeeps to 1½ ton trucks, administration schools, teaching all phases of administrative and paper work, communications schools, teaching the operation and repair of all sorts of telephone, telegraph and radio equipment, and the school for bakers and cooks.

Captain St. Jacques emphasized that all training is under expert teachers and that enrollees in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps are not only receiving valuable training but, on the completion of this training, they will release an army of 150,000 soldiers for the front by taking over that many non-combatant but, nevertheless, vital and important assignments in the army.

Red Cross Needs Workers To Help On Surgical Dressings

As a result of conferences held this week with the War Department, it was found that 180,000-000 surgical dressings will be needed by March 15 in order to meet the requirements of the Surgeon General's office. This means that Warren's production program must be speeded up immediately. It is imperative that all material now on hand be completed and shipped as soon as possible.

The Warren County Red Cross Chapter has been informed that if material has been received from the manufacturers, additional workers should be secured in an endeavor to complete October and November quotas by March 15 and a good share of the December quota by March 31. The War

County Agent's News

Increase in Potato Planting Takes Seed

To meet anticipated food needs, Pennsylvania farmers have been requested to increase potato acreage by 26 per cent over 1942. The increase will amount to about 44,000 acres, says County Agent O. C. Tritt.

Harvested yields are largely dependent on the virus freedom of the seed planted. Certified seed and seed one year removed from certification can be depended on as being relatively virus free.

What the increased acreage means in seed needs is explained by Mr. Tritt. He says that at 20 bushels an acre for planting, the 44,000 acres will require 880,000 bushels of good seed to insure high yields from the increased acreage.

Two per cent of the 20,475,067 bushels of certified seed grown in the whole country in 1942 were Russet Rural. Ordinarily more than half of the Pennsylvania potato acreage is planted to this variety. If certified seed were used on one-half of the proposed increased acreage, all of the 409,501 bushels of certified Russet Rural potatoes would be used in that way alone.

Obviously, growers must get some of their seed from other sources. Mr. Tritt says that seed one year removed from certification is still fairly plentiful, but stocks are being rapidly depleted for table use. He urges growers who are planning to increase their acreages to secure this good seed before it is too late.

What It Means

By JOHN GROVER

FOOD rationing won't end with the armistice. It's considered a certainty in Washington that rationing will continue at least through the first crop year after hostilities cease.

And there's no guarantee it will end then.

From Secretary of Agriculture Wickard's statement that "Food will win the war and write the peace," through Vice President Wallace's post-war plans, there is the clear implication from Administration sources and military and diplomatic policies during and after the war.

One announced purpose of the rehabilitation organization headed by Herbert Lehman is feeding the peoples liberated from the Nazi yoke. Our allies, now drawing food supplies from our production pool, will have clear claim on further food supplies during the reconstruction period.

It is even probable that the vanquished Axis peoples will have to be fed while the post-war world is being fashioned.

All On Short Rations

Everything points to a whole world on short rations for at least one crop year after the war, the U. S. no less than other nations. It could take longer.

No clear formula for food distribution has been advanced in the post-war world suggestions. Those who have considered the problem suggest that some food will be taken from the shortage class almost at once. Right now coffee, sugar and cocoa are scarce because of shipping shortages. Huge stocks exist in the producing countries, awaiting only shipping that will be available almost on armistice day.

The mustering out of millions of farm laborers, and the release of farm workers now in war industry, should ease the farm labor attendance for both evenings and several acts of entertainment have been booked for in-between style editions, which will include dancing by pupils of Katherine Dawn Williams' classes and a special number by Tommy Evans and Miss Nancy Livengood.

Under the sponsorship of the American Legion, the attraction is certainly one of the finest events of its kind ever staged in the community and should draw a large attendance to witness the selection of "Miss Warren."

3000 JOBS "NECESSARY"

Some 3000 occupations have been designated as essential to the war effort by the War Manpower Commission. Those engaged in them will be kept at their jobs until changing circumstances, such as training of replacements, make release for the armed services practical.

The earth's weight is computed at six sextillion, six hundred and sixty quintillion tons.

Shortages In Oil

That's all to the good. The post-war shortages, however, are sure to be critical in meats, fats and oils and the high-vitamin foods. Europe's livestock is going fast. It's doubtful if brood stock remains to supply European countries, for many years.

The enormity of the post-war feeding problem can be seen from the fact that in 1943, according to the Department of Agriculture, military and lend-lease requirements "will probably amount" for 20 to 25 percent of total supplies of beef, 35 to 40 percent of pork, 25 to 30 percent of eggs, 40 to 45 percent of cheese, 15 to 20 percent of butter.

From four-tenths to half of our condensed and evaporated milk will go to the fighting forces or lend-lease, slightly more than half of our canned fruits, and 45 to 50 percent of canned vegetables. These shipments will not, of course, take care of the starving millions in the countries now occupied by Hitler, who would be calling on us for help when the Nazis are kicked out.

Program Not Defined

The production program for the post-war period has not been defined. Congresswoman Clare Luce urged continuation of lend-lease, which presupposes government purchase of food supplies sent abroad.

Whether the people of the United States will consider, with the war won, that the peace aims are important enough to continue taxing themselves to make food transfers a weapon of post-war diplomacy is an untouched question.

Those who are thinking along these lines emphasize that the questions have barely been formulated, let alone answered.

SODA FOUNTAINS MAY BE A WAR CASUALTY

At this time of year there is usually an idle reserve of half a million empty carbonic acid gas drums in the basements of drug stores, restaurants, pool halls and other places where soda water in some form or other is served, or in plants where the drums are sent to be charged. When spring comes and the thirst for carbonated beverages returns, this stock pile of empty drums generally dwindles to negligible proportions as the drums are recharged and connected up with fountains.

This year something has happened. The winter reserve of 500,000 drums is down to summer proportions. Something has happened to those missing drums. Many of them have gone to war, where the draft authorities have decreed that the soda fountain attendants must go soon if they are males over 18 years of age. Several hundred thousand drums are seeing service on ships at sea, or at camps in the United States, North Africa, Australia or in the islands of the sea.

Carbonic acid gas is the gas which makes soda water fizz. Without this gas there would be no soda water. But carbonic acid gas has other uses. It keeps rubber rafts afloat for flyers who have parachuted from airplanes over water; it extinguishes fires on ships or in planes and tanks; in the form of dry ice, which is frozen carbonic acid gas, it is a refrigerant for foods; it depresses landing gears; and now, with the actual production of a "dry-ice gun," the use of carbonic acid gas to propel bullets is in prospect.

Naturally the operators of soda fountains are anxious. Many of the fountains are in drug stores, which have already lost many of the lines of merchandise which formerly contributed to their earnings. The druggists are disturbed over the dwindling stockpile of empty drums. The National Association of Retail Druggists is conducting a campaign for the speedy return of all stray drums mislaid and forgotten in basements and warehouses throughout the country. Unless the campaign succeeds, the soda fountain may become a war casualty.

ADVERTISING AS A WAR WEAPON

After three years of war, it would no more occur to Britain or Germany to throw away advertising as a working tool than it would to discard the submarine or the airplane. Paul Hodges writes in the February issue of Nation's Business, in an article entitled, "Advertising—Over There."

Reviewing how both Britain and Germany, the two most tenacious opponents in the present struggle, have utilized advertising as a civilian war weapon, the writer points out that both governments long ago would have rid themselves of it, if advertising had proved to be an impediment in any respect. He declares:

"Not even the Hitlerian founders of the New Order, in which the State is substituted for practically everything, have found a substitute for advertising. . . . When air raids upon England were at their worst, British business continued advertising schedules almost without interruption."

And he adds that the logical answer to opponents of advertising in America can be obtained from the two strongest European nations, who have found that advertising sustains morale and keeps economic machinery in gear for post-war use.

A period of ever deeper horror and suffering is promised Europe by Adolf Hitler. In his proclamation yesterday to his Nazi Old Guard he put into words the threat the world knew was impending, an outline of the tragic times through which his own people and their neighbors must pass before his satanic career is ended. It appeared to be the declaration of a desperate, cornered man, a deadly dangerous man. Hitler gave expression to his determination that if he must fall he will carry with him as great a part of humanity as he can.

The sudden death of Mike Brady at Youngsville Wednesday removes from the scene one of the most loyal and friendly citizens. Mike's greeting was always cordial characteristic and sincere. He was an admirer of good things, and enjoyed being active in civic and county affairs. He accepted responsibility and gladly gave his full attention to the daily task. As a public official he gained the friendship and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He will be missed by a host of friends throughout the section.

If your initial is from P to Z, go to school tomorrow, and the earlier the better.

Listening for Victory Bells

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

It's too bad the full report of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's recommendations to military air experts can't be made public. His inspection tour and the brutal experience with which it ended apparently gave the captain plenty to think about.

It's said here that "Rick" was talking plenty before he was out of his hospital bed and that the experts were listening hard. As a result of reports from Rickenbacker and Capt. Bill Cherry, pilot, the army already is turning out improved seven-man rafts to replace the inflated cockle-shells Flying Fortress crews now use. In the future, the men who go down to the sea in bombers won't take such a beating when the storms roll in. The names of the new rafts: Rickenbackers.

NOT all the stories brought back by the marines from Guadalcanal are tragic. There is the one, for example, about the time Admiral William F. Halsey made an inspection trip to the muggy, battered island.

Forewarned of the admiral's visit, Marine Gen. A. A. Vandegrift called in his chef, a towering Brooklynite.

When the admiral sat down to dinner, it was to wild duck, wild rice, and all that could possibly go with it, even down to a spot of good red wine. Admiral Halsey expressed amazement. General Vandegrift, equally surprised, explained it was the chef's doing. The admiral said he wished to congratulate the chef personally and the party rose and trooped into the cook shack.

The big chef, clad only in a lap-lap (Solomon Island version of a G-string), a pair of shoes and a chef's cap, snapped to attention.

"Young man," said the admiral, "I wish to congratulate you personally on that meal. It was one of the best I have ever eaten."

In his confusion, the chef slumped out of attention, blushed to his cap-line, gave a couple of hitches to his lap-lap, and said: "Aw, horseleathers, admiral."

WASHINGTON'S wartime transportation problems have given rise to a three-way "ferry" that runs from Bolling Field to Hains Point to the National Airport at Gravelly Point.

The "ferry" is actually a fleet of snappy cabin cruisers manned by "sailors" of the Army Air Force. The cruisers carry 4,500 passengers a week.

By making it possible for air force workers to shoot straight across the river in speedy cruisers rather than take the long way around by land bridge routes, the ferry service is claimed to save 5,000 eight-hour working days; 10,000 gallons of gasoline; and 2,500,000 tire miles a year.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Whatever the opening scene on the screen may be, moving pictures generally are begun by a couple of fellows sitting and looking at each other and saying, at intervals, "Oh, God!" or "Heaven help us!" or "What do we do now?"

When Charlie Brackett and Billy Wilder were just writers, and were given a story germ to develop into a full-blown movie, they always began the same way—retreating to the office, wondering why they ever saw anything in the germ, looking at each other for quite a while and muttering for divine aid. Though Brackett is producer now and Wilder is director, they still write their own stuff and the approach is the same.

"THEN," says Brackett, "when we stop looking at each other and look at the story idea. We have one, say, about a grown-up girl who wants to go home from the big city but hasn't enough money so she dresses as a little girl. There's some more, but that's what we start from. We ask each other what would be entertaining from there on. We decide it would be fun to have her hide in a drawing room, and we work on that too long before we decide it isn't so funny and cut it out. Then we ask what place would be the most fun for such a girl to go, and finally we hit on a military academy, and—after thinking and another—we've got 'The Major and the Minor'.

"I sit with a paper and pencil and write, and Billy walks up and down talking. We write a speech one way, then another and another. Billy has a superb ear for dialogue—writes wonderful lines. We fight over every line and every comma, and we try never to come together with our own fixed ideas as to how a scene should go. We like to fight them out."

THAT'S how they worked out "Five Graves to Cairo," on which Brackett is cutting his producing teeth. It's Wilder's second directing job, but Brackett spends almost as much time on the set as Wilder does.

The pair have been working together as writers for seven years, since Lubitsch teamed them on "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" and then hired them for "Ninotchka." Some of their others: "Hold Back the Dawn," "Arise My Love," "Ball of Fire."

While Wilder was making a name writing European films, Brackett was retiring to his ancestral home at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., to write the Great American Novel. He had been in World War I, had been drama critic on the New Yorker, had written novels and stories, and he decided now was the time. He picked a dead year for the ivory tower—1929. It left him wide open to Hollywood.

WASHINGTON UNIT
The Founders' Day program of Washington PTA drew the largest assemblage of patrons in some time. After a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Hugh McClellan, three articles on Founders' Day were read by different members. A comic play, "On One Thing We Agree," was given by Mrs. Fern Hannold and Miss Genevieve Orr. Mrs. McClellan brought a beautiful birthday cake and a social hour and lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

I would take 1,300,000 planets the size of the earth to equal the volume of the sun.

BUSY PEOPLE FIND TIME FOR EVERYTHING

The women who are doing men's jobs in war plants, running their homes economically... and, in addition, making their own clothes, are winning the war just as much as any soldier on the fighting front.

We number those women by the thousands among our customers. We see them buying their dressmaking needs in Penney stores.

And we, at Penney's are dedicated to making life easier for those who are fighting on the home front: finding them the things they need—making sure they will give good service. These things we pledge ourselves to do. That is OUR War job.

Kiwanians Plan to Stage Annual Event for Their Sons

It is learned that a copy of the following self-explanatory telegram was delivered Wednesday to 32 sons of Warren Kiwanis Club members:

"You are enthusiastically invited to attend the 1943 Kiwanis Father and Son's luncheon meeting with your Dad. We look forward to greeting you with perfect pleasurable. The date is set for Wednesday noon, March 3rd, at the Carver Hotel. Kiwanians have arranged for you to be excused from school which has been okayed by the superintendent. It is doubted we will have the excitement that prevailed when Cowboy Tom Mix was the feature at a previous similar affair but we do promise a thrill and a good time when you enjoy your lunch with the Kiwanians. It is suggested you will feel as proud as punch seeing your Dad honored on this occasion, and in turn get a kick from having your Dad feel like a million to see his son at our Kiwanis table. Will you please call the Western Union office and tell them to have the Kiwanis Club reserve your lunch at the Carver Hotel for this event. It is most important that we count on you coming as it will be the final thing required to make everyone's happiness complete. Signed, The Warren Kiwanis Club."

The results of this invitation have been so good, C. S. Burt, chairman of the attendance committee, states, that it will be very close to a perfect attendance. Kiwanians who do not have sons are bringing as their guests youngsters whom they are acquainted with and know would appreciate the program.

C. C. Winans, chairman of the program committee and very active in the father-son banquets sponsored by the YMCA this week on a county-wide basis, expects the Kiwanis party to climax that work. The program arranged, details which are secret, will prove outstanding and one long to be remembered by the Kiwanians and their sons.

Mr. Wallace, manager of the Carver Hotel, will serve a very special luncheon planned to appeal to the boys on this event. His co-operation is expected to win the approval of the committee which is most anxious to please the guests on this occasion.

An Easy answer to what to do about canned foods!

Take canned goods rationing in your stride. It's for a good purpose . . . to keep our fighting men trim and strong with the foods they need to win victory. You can meet your canned food requirements easily . . . with fresh fruits and vegetables. It will demand a little more planning and a bit more cooking. But, after all, what is that compared to the knowledge that our boys are benefiting? This week, when canned, frozen, and dried fruits and vegetables cannot be sold, you'll find an extra plentiful supply of fresh fruits and vegetables at your A&P Victory Garden. Next week, when point rationing begins, your A&P will have large stocks of canned fruits and vegetables—we suggest, however, that you stretch your precious ration points and still have as many fruits and vegetables as you wish by buying more fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Drydock That Couldn't Be Raised

This is the drydock at Massana, Eritrea, that couldn't be raised—until an American salvage crew bet a killy of $4000 with the British. They surfaced it in a little more than a week, and the ship alongside as well. The evacuating Italians had done the sinking job.

Salzedo Concert Ensemble Is Outstanding In Last Scheduled Attraction of Current Season

Seldom has the membership of the Warren Concert Association been privileged to hear a concert as unanimously enjoyed as that presented last evening at the Woman's Club by the Salzedo Ensemble. The unusual instrumentation of two harps, flute and cello produced all the effects expected of it by the listeners and members of the ensemble were encored again and again as they played as soloists or in different combinations.

Following the opening number by the ensemble was a group for two harps by Carlos Salzedo and Marjorie Call Salzedo. Perhaps the high spot of this group was Clair de Lune by Debussy. As an encore, Mendelssohn's On Wings of Song was given.

For his group of cello solos, Janos Scholz was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Salzedo. Included was a Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt-Popper, played by Mr. Scholz as only a Hungarian can play the music of his native country. For his encore, Mr. Scholz gave The Swan by Saint-Saens, this time being accompanied by Mr. Salzedo at the harp.

Following Mr. Scholz came harp and piano, Marjorie Call Salzedo at the harp and Mr. Salzedo again accompanying. Mrs. Salzedo's artistry is impossible to describe in words. Her encore was Debussy's Girl With the Flaxen Hair.

In the group for flute, Rene LeRoy lived up entirely to his reputation as a master of this difficult instrument. Called by the audience for an encore as were the others, Mr. LeRoy responded with Chopin's Minute Waltz. For his harp solo, Carlos Salzedo presented his own Scintillation, modern and sparkling and embodying all the technical tricks of harp playing. Mr. Salzedo was called for two encores and played Night Breeze and one of a series of fantasies arranged by himself on American folk tunes, choosing The Arkansas Traveler.

The concert was closed by the entire group in Sonatina by Ravel. Thunderous applause called the artists back to give two encores. The Harmonica Player by Guion and Gollwog's Cake Walk. It was altogether an evening of distinguished music, enjoyment of which was enhanced by its variety, and one which will be remembered as an outstanding evening in a long series of recitals presented by the local Association.

Mr. Goering has taken a leave of absence from the employ of the Kresge Company to assist his father in the conduct of a large farm in Iowa.

Bradford Heads For Dragon Territory For Last Game

Owls Come To Warren Friday With Veteran Team To Face Dragons

Warren Dragons haven't been given mention all over the state as one of the best at that position; Peckham on the other hand, position is an able front court man and a fast breaker; Lloyd Mangell takes the center slot—tall and clever on the boards he'll give anybody a tough game; Walker slipped seven pointers through the hoop for the Owls on first meeting and is a good guard. The veteran Hal Witheem is heading the other guard post and finishes up this championship team, which has gone through thirty-seven games with 35 wins.

The sessions the Dragons went really bad on first meeting were the first and second, but if they had given the Owls the game they turned loose on them in the third period, it would have been a scorcher; and they did all that without Dean Nelson and Hubbs.

Whatever happens will be an epic struggle to say the least when these two ancient rivals hit the wood at 8:30 Friday night.

The Owl Seconds are coming along and will do battle with the local Jayvees at 7:30.

Two Clubs Are Open Buyers of Franchise

Williamsport, Feb. 25.—(P)—Tests in Reading, Pa., and Utica, N. Y., were listed today among potential buyers of the Elmira, N. Y., franchise in the Class A Eastern baseball league after Ogden, financially troubled owner, announced he was surrendering his rights.

Jimmy Richardson, league president, disclosed last night the franchise has been placed in his hands for the sale and that he had to complete the deal before the meeting Sunday in (Hollywood) New York City.

Richardson would not name the price, but he said: "There are three groups interested—Utica, Reading and the Elmira group. We hope to get the best price possible."

Richardson said Ogden told him he was going ahead with the Elmira franchise, but Ogden himself, formerly associated with the Philadelphia Athletics and the Baltimore Orioles, was not available immediately for comment. He took over the club in 1941 and last season it encountered financial difficulties and had no attendance.

Clubs in the circuit besides Elmira are Albany and Binghamton.

Honus Wagner at 69 Ready for 32'd Season

By ARDEN SKIDMORE
P Features

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25.—A pitcher did baffle Honus Wagner during several of his 21 years as one of baseball's brightest stars but it wasn't a Christy Mathewson, Cy Young, Grover Cleveland Alexander, or Rube Waddell.

"Those pitchers were great—I guess the best I ever played against," he said, "but I could always hit 'em," said the herculean "Flying Dutchman" of the Pittsburgh Pirates who observed his 69th birthday, February 24.

"The guy who had me going," he grinned, "was a bullpen pitcher for the Chicago Cubs. His name was Jack Taylor."

"Taylor," he recalled, "was only a fair pitcher, started in the box only now and then, but he was the toughest for me to hit. It looked like I ought to knock his pitches seven miles but for five years I couldn't do anything with him."

"Finally," snapped the man who won eight National League batting championships, "I go so disgusted I turned around and batted left handed against him. It worked! I got a three baser and my luck against Taylor changed."

Honus says Taylor always ribbed him, which never eased his embarrassment at the situation. The chaffing continues to this day, he reports, at their frequent meetings when Wagner travels as coach with the Bucs.

At a ripe 69, Wagner is just as anxious for baseball season to roll around as he was in the 1890's when heavy-browed Ed Barrow, now head of the N. Y. Yankees, found him throwing stones and signed him to a contract—the start of one of the most memorable careers on the diamond.

"I think I've got it worse than when I first started," declared Wagner as he sat in the sheriff's office of Allegheny County, where he is a deputy. "If I were starting all over again, baseball is just exactly what I'd do."

Happy Days
Here Again
For Old Buc

As deputy sheriff, Honus is assigned to cases of non-support, something of which his Pirate teammates could never accuse him in 18 years (he spent his other three years with Louisville). He played 2,785 games for the Pirates in every position but catcher. He hit the all-time batting average of .329. He scored 1,740 runs and batted .300 or better for 17 straight seasons. He left many records still unequalled.

This will be the grand old star's 32nd season in the National League, and he describes his health as "tip top." He says he'll have only a quiet day on his birthday. But his two daughters, Virginia, 20, and Betty, 22—one a good basketball player and the other, like Pop, excelling at baseball—will see that he has his usual celebration, including dinner with all the trimmings.

Shy and sensitive, Honus is reluctant to express opinions. But he does cite the Pittsburgh Pirates of 1902 as the greatest baseball club of his time—or any other time in the National League. "They all had brains and knew their business," asserts Wagner. "They didn't need a manager."

The Bucs finished 27½ games on top in winning the flag that year and Honus declared "you know a club has to be darned good to finish that far ahead." He says he wouldn't like to win a championship with too narrow a margin, like the 1942 race between the Cards and the Dodgers, which Honus likens to "a dog chasing a fox until he finally gets him."

"Not that the teams weren't well balanced years ago, but they wanted more to win," he says. "There was lots more fighting by the players, and the spectators, too."

This, he thinks, is the greatest difference between baseball now and baseball then.

Covering The Sports Front

—WITH—
"BOB" JOHNSON

While most fishermen breathe heavily of the spring-like air of the past few days and gaze reluctantly at the calendar numbering the days before April 15th—News breaks that is glad tidings for every one of the army which pursues the finny ones.

Fish stocking as everything else changes with war-time programs—But the change in this year is almost all-round good occurrence—Giving the had before the good—The prime disappointment will be the walking angle—which certainly causes no little furore when most favorite streams are from 4 to 20 miles distant.

The good?—F. M. Geer brought in a report that stocking will be carried on in practically the same way as in previous years with all trucks and men associated with the program receiving gas and rubber for it—while the number of fish to be used in most cases the same and in a few a little more—meaning—Streams within easy walking distance of towns will be stocked heavier than usual—While others are to receive the same as always.

Also—For those who like a mess of brook trout and don't give a darn for the buns and lost rubber—The upper reaches of Brown Run, Four Mile and Farnsworth are to be opened for fishing after a long period of protection—

Sounds alright?—Now all you have to figure out is how to keep the wife happy when you go out on a week-end walking and fishing trip or trek out after work for an evening of nerve-relaxation—necessitating the waiting of dinner—Better start buying her new hats because only 50 days remain.

Myron Check, president of the Elks Club bowling league has announced the launching of another double-tourney to get under way this coming Saturday. This time it will run three days—Saturday of this week and Saturday and Sunday of next—To give all bowlers a chance to compete—The past few events have been so successful that it will probably be a semi or monthly event from here in—

Finally you can see Willard Zerbe and Tink Wolfe, currently playing basketball with the Rock Cleaners, getting rid of the excess weight around the abdomen which has accumulated in the past few years and recently resembled half inflated inner tubes, playing ball like of old—In '38 they nailed the District Nine gonfalon, went on to cop the 1st and 2nd Districts with wins over Clemon and Sykesville respectively and going into the semi-finals against Farrell—which they lost by 42-35. They are giving out with the same fast ball as of then but Art McKeenhan, one of the cleverest ball-handlers ever produced in Warren is lacking plus such in service men as Bob Beatty, Wernie Check, Dick Underwood, Tommy Conway, Parm Davis, and Wilbur Riggs, manager—Five years have passed since Warren fans went all-basketball to keep with this outfit—They certainly blazed a trail of glory that year and some of them are doing the same now—either in the army, navy, marines or on defense work.

W. & J. WOULD FAVOR A POST SEASON GAME

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25.—(P)—Adam Sanders, coach of the fast-stepping Washington & Jefferson five, says his team would welcome a chance for post-season laurels in either the New York metropolitan or the N. C. A. A. basketball tournament.

The Prexies are one of 15 eastern teams being considered for competition in the national collegiate invitation tournament at Madison Square Garden, New York, next month.

They defeated Carnegie Tech, 49 to 33, here last night for their ninth straight victory, and their thirteenth in sixteen games.

The tall, bespectacled mentor believes the team's four remaining foes—Westminster, Bethany, Waynesburg and Duquesne—have been weakened through loss of players to the armée forces.

He says his own squad likely will remain intact for the balance of the season. Two of his stars, the Forquer twins—Ray and Ralph—enrolled recently in the army air corps but Sanders thinks it unlikely they'll be called for a while. Huck Hartman, flashy center, is nearly six feet, eight inches tall—too high for Uncle Sam's requirements.

AT PENN CENTER

In the fourth round of the Struthers-Wells League the Boring Mills and Plate Floor each started out with a clean slate by their wins over Machine Shop and Engineers, respectively, as Foreman A and X-Ray took three point wins over Foreman B and Heaters, respectively.

Clark's 222-573 topped the Plate Floor over the Engineers, Wooster's 222-573 led the Foreman A over the Foreman B, as Castagnini's 503 led the losers. Stephens' 207-554 topped the X-Ray over the Heaters, and Check's 220-551, Votrie's 568, and Kyles' 213-547 combined to top the Machine Shop with Draheim's 241-554 leading the Machine Shop.

Scoring honors for the evening went to Draheim for individual with 241, Clark's 591 for high.

Dick Check Ready To Defend Championship Title This Week-End

Saturday of this week starts the singles bowling tourney to decide the champion for this year and Dick Check will be out to defend the title he gained last year in one of the biggest events ever staged in Warren.

Dick, as famous in Warren bowling circles as his brother, Myron, comes from a long list of athletes and is considered one of the best in town, although his brother of mention comes higher in the averages this year. He'll put his crown on the line this week and all comers are given the opportunity to try to knock it off.

The event, which had its beginning last season, has gained by leaps and bounds and is rated as the best in the city both for competition and spectators with an expected entry fee on the books by Friday.

This year has brought out a list of prizes larger than ever and will include a war bond, a trophy, and a percentage of the entry fees figured for placers.

The town's crack leggers are primed for it with such talent as Barney Malone, Pete Juliano, Frank Russell, Cosmano, Mike Bleech, Bob Check and scores of others who are hitting the maples at a fast clip this year and with the lengthy lists of names being chalked up, Dick Check will have to smack the pins at his best pace to stay at the helm.

The entry fee is 7 dollars and this includes all bowling with Saturday noon the final day for entrance.

The above chart illustrates what each signal will mean for pedestrians, traffic, homes and factories under the new Air Raid Warning System which goes into effect in Pennsylvania and other eastern states by order of the Eastern Defense Command at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday, February 17. New rules have been promulgated by the State Council of Defense to govern enforcement in this state.

Principal innovation is the audible "blue" alarm. When it precedes the "red" it means: "Enemy planes appear to be headed in your direction—Get ready." Civilian Defense forces mobilize on this signal. The "blue" signal following the "red" keeps the community on limited alert against the possible return of the enemy planes.

Another change is the elimination of the audible "all-clear" signal. The "all-clear" will be announced by radio and other means.

A MESSAGE FROM HELEN KELLER

Buying War Bonds is our pledge that the cruellest barbarism on record shall be defeated, and that mankind shall live in liberty, befitting their human dignity. The self-denial of the peoples for a noble purpose is their right to victory. Each War Bond we purchase is an assurance to our soldiers of democracy that their heroism shall not be in vain—and surely a tenth of our incomes is small matched against their sublime renunciation of everything they hold dear in life.

Helen Keller.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR SOLDIERS: In her own handwriting, Helen Keller has penciled the above statement in which she says "buying War Bonds is our pledge that the cruellest barbarism on record shall be defeated."

"Each War Bond we purchase," according to Miss Keller, "is an assurance to our soldiers of democracy that their heroism shall not be in vain—and surely a tenth of our incomes is small matched against their sublime renunciation of everything they hold dear in life."

Problem of the WIRE CAGE

BY JOHN DICKSON CARR

Chapter 32

THAT look on Nick's face was gone in a flash, and Nick presented to them a vast, fishy calm which nothing could shake.

"So," continued Dr. Fell, "he thought he was safe. He slipped out of the house, moving clumsily but steadily on his crutch. He went down the drive in the gloom of the after-storm. By the garage he met Frank Dorrance coming back from Mrs. Bancroft's. Time about six minutes past seven. He used a certain pretext—a certain pretext—to get Dorrance into this enclosure. Here he killed Dorrance."

Again Dr. Fell drew a deep breath.

"Last night Superintendent Hadley and I discussed six points which seemed to lead us conclusively to the way in which this 'miracle' murder was done. I should like to discuss them with you now. The first was a query: How was Dorrance persuaded to go out on the tennis-court? And we can suggest to you something rather more convincing than a wager. You can help us here, Miss White."

"I can?" cried Brenda.

"Now tell me," pursued Dr. Fell quietly. "Did Nicholas Young ever promise to invent you a 'tennis robot'? In your own words, a dummy that will return your strokes so that you can play alone?"

Brenda stared at him.

"Yes, he did. I mentioned it to him on Saturday. Nick's been making promises about it all week. Frank was wildly enthusiastic about it, because Frank was a first-rate player and couldn't get in enough practice."

"Did your friend Nick ever tell you how he intended to invent this dummy?"

"No."

"I imagine not," said Dr. Fell grimly. "He couldn't invent such a thing. But then he didn't have to, because he had his reputation for wonderful ingenuity. All he had to do was persuade Dorrance that he had invented it."

"He met Dorrance outside the gate. He said to Dorrance, 'Well, I've got the idea for your tennis dummy, and I know how to make it work. But I've got to get the exact measurements. You've got to help me; and do it now.'"

"HE LET Dorrance precede him through the gate. Then, softly and without noise, he made them safe and cozy against inter-ruption. He took a new padlock out of his pocket, and locked it on the gate so that no intruders should be inconvenient witness. Next he went to the pavilion here."

"Searches both on Saturday night, and on Sunday morning, failed to disclose that article. It was not there; and yet in ordinary household management it should have been there. Maria (as we know) uses this tennis robot to hang up the washing. The basket of clothes-peg was there. The tall clothes-prop was there. At the back of the pavilion among the rakes. What had happened to the clothes-line?"

Hadley opened the suitcase he had brought with him, and took out a coil of clothes-line, which must have contained fifty feet of line.

"Dr. Nicholas Young, the murderer, had said to him: 'I will show you how my tennis robot will work. But I must have the exact dimensions, so that the dummy will be correct. And since I am incapacitated, you shall do it for me. Just follow my instructions.'"

"Now watch the scene take form! Mr. Nicholas hands Dorrance the coil of clothes-line. At Nick's direction, Dorrance walks along the grass strip to the designated iron support. Here, at a designated height up from the ground—in fact, at about the height of his own neck—Dorrance ties one end of the clothesline tightly to the pole. He then takes the coil of clothes-line (at Nick's direction) and flings it out into the center of the court. Not wishing to get his shoes more messy than necessary, Dorrance walks back on the grass to the wire door. From here he goes out into the court.

"They are having a lot of fun, these two. It is a great lark, constructing the lines or, which the robot is to work. In the center of the court, Dorrance picks up the coil of clothes-line. He flings it the rest of the way across the court, to the west side, where Nick is waiting outside the wire. Nick fishes up the end of it, by reaching under the wire with his one hand. He raises it to one of two opposite iron supports.

"They have now constructed a sort of tight-rope which stretches straight across the court. It is the trolley (Dorrance thinks) on which a tennis robot will hang and run. It is about the height of his own neck. He has no idea of how it is to work. But he is fascinated, and wild with enthusiasm. And remember: Frank Dorrance was with the one person in the world he really trusted."

"And Old Nick says to him: 'The measurements must be right. We must know the size of the dummy's neck.'"

"IT IS still a good joke. Dorrance is holding up the rope in the middle, to keep it from sagging to the ground. He will impersonate the dummy. I want, says Nick, to get the rope tight, so that it won't sag. But I don't want you to chafe your neck. You are wearing a thick, soft scarf. Pull the scarf as tightly as you can without discomfort, and nestle the rope in against it. Dorrance complies. With his right hand—as he faces the net—he takes the right side of the rope, lifts it over his head, wraps it round his neck in a loop, pulls the left side of the rope tight, and settles the loop round his neck against the scarf."

"Nicholas Young has an inordinately powerful hand and arm, as any one will agree who has seen him propel his wheel-chair. He has only one hand; but he needs one. He now has Frank Dorrance caught in a loop between two supports. One end of the rope is tied to an iron pole across the court. The other end is drawn against the opposite pole, like a pulley, and is then wound twice round that powerful left hand. Standing outside the wire mesh, he supports the weight of his body against the pole. Clothes-line is very light, but it is also very strong. A twitch on that rope will cause Dorrance discomfort. A sudden, blinding, powerful pull—"

"It was soon over. The whole performance, from entering this enclosure to murder, took less than ten minutes. Our worthy Nick stopped in the twilight, his labours well done. He listened. He hobbled round to the other side of the court."

"There he cut the knot in the rope which Dorrance had tied round the opposite iron support. He did this with the clasp-knife he always carries; and which, I am told by those who have seen him, he can open with one hand. He then began, swiftly, to snake in the line. You recall that Dorrance had been rolled—rolled over several times. When Nick began to pull in the rope from this side of the court, the body was rolled over as Nick jerked at it to free the line from the neck. Rope pulled over wet sand like this will not leave a trail."

"There was no fear, of course, of dislodging the scarf itself from the neck. As usual in cases of strangling, it adhered deep into the neck. But the rope was loose. The murderer folded up an innocent-looking coil of clothes-line and replaced it in the pavilion. He gathered up the few inches of cut line. And he made only one real mistake."

INSURANCE COMPANIES

LOSERS IN LARGE SUIT

Philadelphia, Feb. 25—(P)—The widow of Captain Benjamin Franklin Norwood, U. S. N., who died 90 minutes after a fall in his shower, was awarded a $21,131 verdict against two insurance companies yesterday in federal court.

Mrs. Norwood's medical witness testified death was caused by a head injury suffered in the fall. Witnesses said he died because of heart trouble or high blood pressure. The trial lasted seven days.

Norwood's death occurred on January 12, 1942, in his New York City apartment. Defendants in the case were The Great American Indemnity Co. and The Prudential Insurance Company.

FRESH PRESIDENTIAL

PROTEST IS IN OFFING

Washington, Feb. 25—(P)—A congressional committee's apparent determination to force a Senate vote on legislation requiring confirmation of federal jobholders receiving $4,500 or more a year was expected in some Capitol quarters today to provoke a fresh presidential protest.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's expressed "unqualified opposition" to the bill, Chairman Van Nuys (D-Ind.) of the senate judiciary committee said most Republican and Democratic members of the group "are certain to report it out Monday for a floor vote."

KIDNAP HOAX COSTS

YOUTH A FORTUNE

Philadelphia, Feb. 25—(P)—An accounting in the $4,113,580 estate of Caleb J. Milne, Jr., textile manufacturer, showed today that Milne disinherited his grandson, Caleb Milne, 4th, after the latter confessed to a kidnapping hoax in 1935.

The younger Milne disappeared and sent letters to his grandfather for a $200,000 ransom.

The accounting, revealing the size of the manufacturer's estate for the first time, showed that a codicil to the will was filed cutting off the grandson from any inheritance.

Profit Cashing

Fails To Halt

Market Gains

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, Feb. 25—(P)—Stocks had to contest profit cashing in today's market but favored rails and industrials successfully hurdled this barrier to reach new highs for the past 2 to 3 years with gains of fractions to around a point.

Prices rose at the start in further reflection of cheering battle reports from Tunisia and Russia. Dealings again were at the rate of better than a million shares. While initial advances were reduced or cancelled here and there near the fourth hour, the transportation group was at or near the top.

Bonds generally pushed upward. Commodities were a trifle mixed.

$100,000 to $200,000 for planning. He disclosed a commission of 10 persons, instead of 15 as formerly proposed, would be in charge of the planning.

He also said no decision has been reached by administration leaders on the governor's proposal to decentralize the administration of unemployment relief.

"When a decision is made on whether administration of relief should be returned to the counties or not, it will be a decision on a permanent and constructive plan," he added.

The lawmakers returned home after receiving word that Governor Martin would make his budget Monday night at a joint session of both houses.

The budget recommendations, the governor said, would include a $40,000,000 tax reduction and elimination of the four-mill personal property tax, levies on bank shares, corporate taxes and probably the mercantile tax.

The senate before it adjourned until 4 p. m. Monday passed a bill requiring bank examinations every two years instead of annually.

The house, which voted to meet next Monday at 8:30 p. m., approved finally a measure to increase the Joint State Government Commission from 17 members (10 representatives and seven senators) to 24—twelve from each house.

Other bills sent to the senate with house approval would change the name of the Pennsylvania Motor Police to Pennsylvania State Police; increase jurors pay from $3 a day to $4 and provide free fishing licenses for the armed forces.

Sons and Dads Party Planned At 'Y' Friday

All members of the Boys Department of the Y. M. C. A. are invited to bring their Dads to the party to be held in the 'Y' social rooms on Friday evening of this week at 7:30. This event is intended to replace the usual Father and Son banquet, which had to be foregone because of rationing.

The party has been planned to promote fellowship and fun between the sons and their Dads. It will open with a short serious program, which will be followed by the showing of sound movies, including comedies. After this there will be a game period in which group games and team competitions will be featured. Refreshments will close the party.

Boys are reminded that they must be accompanied by their Dads, some adult member of the family, or an adult friend.

There will be an open house at the 'Y' on Saturday afternoon from 1:00 till 5 p. m. During this time boys may bring their Dads swimming, as well as to use all game facilities in the building. In the evening, boys will be admitted free to the twin basketball feature at 7:30, if accompanied by their Dads.

The "Y" staff hopes that many fathers and sons will avail themselves of these opportunities.

Brothers Meet In Home On Foreign Soil

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scalise, 828 West Fifth avenue, have just had a communication from two of their sons in North Africa relating one of the war's real coincidences.

Three boys of this family are serving in their country's armed forces. Pvt. N. A. Scalise, who left for service on June 31, 1942, and Pfc. Frank J. ## Younger Set Specials---1943

THIS is the first year that little girls' hats have had the benefit of "high styling" by nationally important milliners. Typical of the new models are the fashion inspirations above, created by a group of the nation's top-flight designers for copying in modest price brackets. The point of the new models is that they give a young miss hats of individuality, while keeping the simplicity appropriate to the youngsters' age. Girls' hats run to bonnets, which is also an important trend in grown-ups' hats. The bonnet at left, above, is of pink felt, dotted with pink and green blossoms and yellow yarn love-knots. It ties under the chin with a braid of yellow yarn. Your favorite miss will look and feel sunny in the gay bonnet at right, which is of sun-bright yellow felt, with a black ribbon band. The tip of the crown and brim sections are stitched in matching straw.
